CITY OFFICIAL PAPER

D. E. O'KEEFE, Editor and Proprietor

FOR HIS COUNTRY'S GOOD

A contemporary's opinion that "Colonel" Jack Johnson's forfeited $30,000 cash bond is better to have in the country than the Colonel, who announces from Paris that he has left it for good, will be accepted in many quarters as high finance, remarks the Globe-Democrat.

We can hardly dissent from that opinion, but for purposes of contrast it might be said that what is regarded as high finance in some quarters is not so regarded in others. The elements which proclaim the "wide-open town" to be the highest of all finance will dissent loudly. They will point an unerring finger to undoubted figures showing that $30,000 changed hands every two or three days in the Colonel's magnificent resort in Chicago. And they will answer the argument that the Colonel was the only one realizing a financial profit out of these great money exchanges with the contention that "he kept the money in circulation." And there is no denying that argument, even though it can be demonstrated that the Colonel kept the money circulating out of a large number of pockets into his own.

That half-world to which Johnson belonged, and to which he will continue to belong no matter where he may locate, will offer what it considers higher reasons why he should be permitted to remain in our midst. It will claim that both personal liberty and home rule have been violated in his expatriation. It will recall that his conviction was not for miscegenation, lawful in Illinois, but for bringing from Pittsburg to Chicago a white woman entirely willing to go with him.

The bitterest drop in the bottom of their cup will be that it was not Chicago and not Illinois which banished him, but the government at Washington, asserting a power which a sovereign state could not. In this they will see a threat to a "wide-open" town which will for them forever forecast panics, financial depressions and long continuing loss of profits.

KLEVERSAHL MUST FACE SUPERIOR COURT TRIAL

The preliminary examination of Carl Kleversahl took place yesterday before Judge Lampkin, and he was held over before the Superior Court, his bond being fixed at $1000. The testimony of Tom Finn, the man who was alleged to have been struck by the motor truck of Kleversahl was about the only testimony offered on the part of the prosecution. He admitted being in the center of the road near St. Patrick's Seminary, and somewhat sleepy at the time he was struck. His testimony showed the accident occurred about 10 o'clock at night, and that it was dark, owing to the trees. Kleversahl testified that he did not see the man, and that owing to the darkness it was impossible to see him at that point. Other witnesses were produced and gave similar testimony. Kleversahl, when he found out that the man was hit, immediately rendered all aid possible, and paid for his tteam, all all expenses. The testimony showed conclusively that Kleversahl did not nor could not have seen Finn at the time, and Finn also admits the same. Nevertheless Kleversahl was held to appear before the Superior Court. The defendant will demand an immediate trial before the Superior Court.

Saving in Reduced Fares.

A careful compilation of figures received by the Development Association office shows that the residents of San Mateo county are saving at least $5,000 a month as a result of reduced fares secured from the Southern Pacific through the rate case initiated by the boosters, and that the saving for the entire peninsula is probably twice this amount.

Considering this county alone, the residents of four communities—San Bruno, Burlingame, San Mateo and Redwood City—are saving over $2,000 a month on the 10, 30, 52 and 62-ride tickets at the rates they are now being purchased, in comparison with the rates which were in effect before the settlement of the rate case on November 1st last. In addition, there is of course a large saving throughout the week on round-trip tickets and lower week-end rates, so that $5,000 a month seems a conservative estimate as far as the whole county is concerned when it is remembered that but four stations and four classes of tickets are named.

Dr. C. L. Morgan of Halfmoon Bay, who is secretary of the county commission for the Panama-Pacific Exposition, has been appointed to fill the same position on a permanent organization of county commissioners recently formed in San Francisco, the other officers of which are Henry Ayer of San Jose, president, and R. J. Madison of Santa Cruz, vice-president.

SAN BRUNO NOTES.

The Federated Improvement Clubs met Wednesday night and transacted considerable business. A strong committee of citizens voluntarily agreed to attend the meeting of the Supervisors in August when the incorporation of San Bruno will be under consideration. Reports from the dance committee showed a financial success and through this source many bills were paid. A nice balance was left, but this will be needed as quite an expense faces the club before their endeavors in this line are completed. The secretary was instructed to thank all of the organizations for their strong support and contributions. A special meeting will be held next Wednesday evening.

The residents of Belle Air have a just complaint against the improper use of the tract by owners of horses, who are in the habit of working their horses during the day and turning them out to graze and annoy the residents at night. The stock is not owned by residents of the tract but is brought from other additions. The poundmaster, like the the Chinese graces, has neither eyes to see nor ears to hear. The office of poundmaster seems to be neither ornamental or useful, and judging it from that point of view, other steps are liable to be taken to abate the nuisance.

Job Hatfield, of the First Addition, fell from the fifth story of a building at the Exposition grounds to the ground Monday afternoon. The force of the long fall was partially broken by striking another scaffold on the third story. Hr. DOINGS AT LA HONDA

Great doings in beautiful La Honda these days. The Native Sons and Daughters of Palo Alto and vicinity visted there last Saturday and Sunday and had a merry time, indeed. There was an enjoyable ball at Sears' hall and the happy couples danced until 4 a. m. Under the experienced management of Lucas Greer, the bullshead breakfast was a great success, and to many the preparation of the toothsome morsels, the meat and beans baking in the pits, the novel cooking of the green corn and the fiery furnaces were a novelty. Come again, friend Greer, and soon, for we are smacking our lips in anticipation of the next royal feed. On Sunday there was a genuine fiesta, and the accompanying races for fat women, children and all that sort of merry making. Norman Malcolm delivered an apt Native Son speech and made a graceful allusion to Mrs. Sears (no relation to our Mrs. Sears) who made the first bear flag. The festivities wound up with a midnight chicken dinner at Sears' hotel.

There will be a masquerade dance at Sears' hall on Saturday evening, July 26, and all are making active preparations. More pleasurein store for happy La Honda.

JUDGE SUSTAINS VERDICT OF JURY

Title of Valuable Coastside Property Cleared by Decision of Judge Sargent

Judge Bradley V. Sargent has rendered a decision in the suit of Margaret Ann Weeks against Asa T. Weeks. The case was tried some months ago in the Superior Court of this county by a jury and before Judge Sargent sitting for Judge Buck. The jury rendered a verdict in favor of plaintiff and the judge has by an opinion rendered this week approved of the verdict, though he could have set aside the same had he wished to do so. The suit was brought to quiet title to the home ranch of L. Chandler at Pescadero. Chandler in 1910 deeded the property to Mrs. Chandler and subsequently made another deed to the land in favor of Asa T Weeks, his son-in-law. Week's defense was that there was not a proper delivery of the first instrument. The following is Judge Sargent's opinion in full.

"This is an action to determine the title to a parcel of real property situated in this county, consisting of what is known as the Chandler Home Place.

The plaintiff is the second wife of one Lafayette Chandler. The defendant is the hubsand of a daughter by a former wife. Plaintiff and Chandler have been husband and wife for many years, and at least up to the 19th day of September, 1910. Their married life was always happy and contented, their relation with the daughter and her husband were friendly. On the 19th day of September, 1910, Lafayette Chandler made a deed of the property to plaintiff, at the same time making other instruments of conveyance of other property to his daughter, and generally making a settlement of his property interests. The nature of the settlement and the intention with which the conveyance were made constitute the gist of the action.

On June 17th, 1912, Chandler made a second conveyance to the property, this time to his son-in-law, defendant Weeks, and the latter immediately placed the deed on record. The first conveyance was never recorded. It remained in the possession of the Notary, who was the scrivener, and whether or not there was an immediate delivery of this conveyance by Chandler to his wife is to be determined here. The testimony is conflicting upon this point. Plaintiff testifies, and she is corroborated by the Notary, J. C. Williamson, that when the deed was made, it was handed by Chandler to plaintiff, and that after such delivery it was agreed by plaintiff and Chandler that Williamson should be given the custody of the deed, and was to record them on the death of Chandler. The testimony on the part of defendant and that of Chandler himself tends to show that it was not intended that a delivery should be made, but that Williamson was given merely custody of the deeds subject to withdrawl by Chandler at any time.

The case was tried before a jury which rendered a verdict in favor of the plaintiff and against the defendant. Defendant now moves for judgment, contending that the finding of the jury is merely advisory, and is erroneous, and that the Court should enter judgment for defendant on the testimony.

I do not think there can be any question that the jury's verdict is merely advisory, but being so, this does not mean that a jury having been impaneled and tried the case, the verdict is to be set aside or overlooked save for good and substantian grounds.

Having been called upon to try this case, the jury's verdict should not be disturbed, unless it is clearly erroneous, or it becomes plain that it was rendered through bias or prejudice.

The jury in this case was made up of business men, broad-minded, intelligent and who were not influenced in any manner through bias or prejudice. They were well qualified in every way to pass upon the questions involved and their verdict should not be set aside unless it is clear that the Court would have arrived at a different conclusion if the case had been tried without a jury.

To determine this, we must recourse to the testimony, Mr. Williamson, who drew up the deed, is a notary, evidently a man of standing. in the community, and a person in whom Chandler placed implicit confidence in September, 1910, else he would not have been selected to transact the business and retain possession of the conveyance. He was succinct and clear in his testimony. Though a stranger to the Court, it was plain to me that his testimony was given with candor and without partisinanship to either side. He has no interest in the case and is a man of probity and understanding. He testified that he was called in to make the deed; that Chandler told him what he wanted to do with the property; how to draw up the deeds: that he drew them up at Chandler's instructions; that thereupon Chandler signed them; that then he placed his notary seal on the deed and handed it to Chandler; that Chandler then handed the deed to his wife, without any words or reservation whatever; that Mrs. Chandler then agreed with Chandler that the deed should be given to Williamson to keep until the death of Chandler, to be then recorded.

According to Williamson's testimony, the deeds were delivered absolutely and without any right to reserve, to recall or revoke. Mrs. Chandler's testimony is to the same effect.

Opposed to this testimony is that of Chandler himself. Since the making of the deed, Chandler and his wife have become estranged. He is very aged, and his mind none too srtong. He testified that it was not his intention to part with the title irrecovably. That it was his intention to retain control of the deeds so that he might withdraw and change them at any time; that as an indication of such reservation he demanded the possession of the deeds of Williamson.

But it is not what a grantee testifies to after a lapse of two years was his intention which must control. The intention with which an act is done must be determined by all the facts and circumstances immediately surrounding the transaction.

What Mr. Chandler said at the time of the trial was his intention two years before cannot possibly control as against a clear conclusion to be deduced from the surroundings incidents, especially when opposed by the testimony of Williamson. When Chandler made the deeds to his wife, no difficulties had arisen between them. They had lived together happily many years —she had been a loving, thoughtful companion. He was very old and could see the end rapidly approaching. He wanted to provide for her in her old age and wanted to save expenses, and so he conveyed her this property. The jury undoubtedly had a right to take into consideration these facts and motives, and circumstances in arriving at their verdict. The weigh of these facts and motives were for the jury. It was for them to say if they overbalanced the testimony of Chandler, and I see no valid reason for arriving at a different conclusion. On the courtary I am firmly of the opinion that had the cause been tried before me without a jury, I should have arrived at the same conclusion.

Judgment is for the plaintiff as prayed for, and counsel will prepare findings and decree accordingly and serve them upon the adverse party.

B. V. Sargent, Judge of the Superior Court.

Dated July 19th, 1913.

TELEPHONE SYSTEM IS CRITICISED

City Council Will Make Appeal to Railroad Commission in Endeavor to Secure an Improved Service

The serice—or rather lack of service—afforded by the Telephone Company to its patrons in this section came in for a rather severe scoring at the session of the city council last Monday evening, when local manager McGill was called upon the carpet by Trustee Hahir to explain unsatisfactory conditions of the long distance service between this city and San Mateo While the chief cause of complaint made at the time was directed against the San Mateo service, where it is now impossible to secure direct individual calls, it was made evident that other items of the service rendered were far from satisfactory to the trustees, all of whom took part in the discussion. Failing to satisfy the trustees with the explanation of conditions surrounding the service with the points mentioned, Manager McGill suggested that the local long distance service of tthe company was now being reviewed by the railroad commission, and with a hope for relief from that source Chairman Merrill was requested by the council to lay the complaint before the commission, with an official request from the city for the desired improvements.

The usual monthly reports of the city officers and employees were presented and filed. According to the report of City Treasurer Towne the business of the municipal water system continues to show good results, that fund now having a balance of $2,862 to its credit. In the library fund there is a balance of $1,350, while the general fund is still a little behind, showing a deficit of $119.

According to the report of Marshal Coleman the collections of his office for the month amounted to a total of $5011.84, divided among the various sources as follows:

Water rates	$1458.35
Water connections	120.00
Liquor licenses	2710.00
Plumbers' fees	35.50
Miscellaneous licenses	288.20
Trees	273.35
Taxes	7.35
Street improvement	119.09

The Pacific Gas & Electric Company applied for and was granted permission to extend its gas mains on Elwood and Hopkins avenues for the supplying of private consumers.

Trustee Hynding, to whom was referred the bids for supplying light poles, reported in favor of the acceptance of the bid of the GrayThorning Lumber Company, the only local bidders. The recommendation was accepted and the contract awarded, the price for 35-foot poles being $7.25 each.

The John R. Ott Company, which was recently granted a contract for street improvement work submitted an offer to make similar improvements at street intersections at the same rates. The offer was accepted with the proviso that the city be given the benefit of any cash discounts allowed private owners.

An amendment to the water ordinance, making changes in the rates as suggested by the trustees at a previous meeting, was presented by City Attorney Mansfield and given its first reading. The proposed rates are as follows: First 25,000 gallons, 30 cents per 1000; excess up to 50,000 gallons, 27 cents per 1000 gallons; excess up to 75,000 gallons, 25 cents per 1000; excess up to 100,000 gallons, 22½ cents per 1000 gallons; in excess of 100,000 gallons, 20 cents per 1000 gallons.

J. Barnett addressed the council urging several amendments to the license ordinance affecting his business. He asked that the license be so arranged as to discourage competition from itinerant dealers, claiming that this favor was allowed in other lines of business. He also urged that the law be so amended as to prohibit the purchase of articles of junk from minors, suggesting that this might remove temptations to dishonesty among the youth of the city. The suggestions were referred to the city attorney with a suggestion that needed amendments to the ordinance be prepared.

Street Superintendent Dickey reported that his department was in need of additional pipe to complete the laying of mains in the streets to be improved this summer. Clerk Plump was authorized to advertise for bids for the furnishing of 1500 feet of four-inch cast iron pipe and 500 feet of 1¼ inch galvanized pipe.

Some interesting bits of ancient history were brought out by City Attorney Mansfield in a report of his investigations of property rights some of the most valuable of which along the banks of Redwood creek, are in danger of being absorbed by private individuals to the possible serious detriment of the future interests of the city. For the past two weeks Attorney Mansfield, at the request of the council, has been investigating the attempt of the Tacoma Mill Company to secure title to the lands bordering on Redwood creek, between East Marshal and East Bradford streets under the guise of an action to quiet title. Evidently Attorney Mansfield has found his task no small one, as his researches necessitated a review of conditions affecting that section of the city from the days of its earliest settlement. While this task is not entirely completed, the city attorney is evidently of the opinion that the city has legal rights in the property in question, and at his suggestion he was given authority to take such steps as he may deem necessary to protect the interests of the public.

BOYS' CLUB OUTCLASSES SAN FRANCISCO TEAM.

The Boys' Club showed their class again last Sunday afternoon when they defeated the Union-street Merchants in a fast game. Up to the seventh the game was tied at five to five but in the seventh and eighth, home runs by Winter and Ramirez put the game away. Chaves pitched star ball, striking out seven, allowing seven hits and not walking or hitting a man. The boys had their batting eyes with them, Rameriz secured four out of five trips. Winter and Hallett each secured two out of three trips and others also batted well.

Next Sunday at 10 o'clock the Boys' Club will play the Ellery Arms Company team of San Francisco. This team claims to be the champions of the city and a fast game can be looked for
